

şifr (n., arabic) — zero; the void; the origin of mathematics.

cipher (n., cryptography) — a code; a way of encoding meaning.

cypher (n., music) — a circle of voices in sequence.

cyph (n.) — the new underground for ideas.

founders

jalen daniels

philosopher

technologist

strategist

role
strategy lead

alma mater
harvard

previous work
ex-mckinsey

researching

transhumanism · nietzsche · urban agriculture

bryan cash

computer scientist

sports savant

optimizer

role
technology lead

alma mater
syracuse

previous work
ex-washington post

researching

technofeudalism · neuroathletics · socratic methodology

bakari kitwana

ex-eic of the source magazine

caitlin begg

ceo of authentic social and return to analog podcast

advisory board

calvary rogers

ex-google, founder of seneca labs

we're in a crisis.

ai = cognitive resignation

"your brain on chatgpt: accumulation of cognitive debt"

'veritas' is performative

"college professors say their academic freedom is in decline"

"safety" = mass surveillance

"homeland security subpoenas ice critics online"

see our weekly pulse check here.

but crisis always sparks counter culture.

the agora

athens, 500 bc

where free thought had a home before the academy existed.

the salon

paris, 1700s

where conversations that built the enlightenment happened in living rooms.

harlem renaissance

new york, 1920s

where Black intellectuals made space for possibility in the midst of danger.

what about now?

we're the new underground.

how it works

01
underground

where you become dangerous.

swipe in. pick a route. uncover a living world of buried artifacts, and suppressed ideas. your cyphcard maps how you think over time.

tap irl books, ideas & artifacts with cyphcard in apple wallet.

how it works

02

cyph

where ideas get tested in real time.

contest ideas in real-time cyphs with thinkers around the world. go deeper in office hours with the underground's sharpest scholars.

live

topics sourced from API's & real-time listening.

knicks championship

"shut up and dribble:" power in the nba
hosted by chris robinson

cyph types

open mics

supper clubs

debates

office hours

conceptual

ideas surfaced from pulses in deep research.

is the soul actually cartesian?

the ghost was never in the machine
hosted by iain mcgilchrist

how it works

03

irl

no more screen addiction. close the laptop and enter our world of IRL lectures, office hours, supper clubs, & debates.

the research from the room is archived in our partner libraries.

our last cyph...

in the room

40+ residencies and venues across nyc.

what real peeps have said.

"people are yearning to break the shackles and speak their truth."

"it encourages individuality...there's no need for an echo chamber."

"i like that it's centered around topics and things that matter rather than a sea of content."

"i love cyph because I can find actual scholars whom i would want to talk with."

"humanity needs a platform that tells them to go outside."

"the internet was built to enable resource sharing and open communication, not to suppress them."

"the world needs an ed-tech platform built by someone who knows how to resonate with culture."

"this feels like a breath of fresh air. online today is extremely gimmicky."

A group of people, including a man and two women, are sitting around a table in a meeting. The man on the left is wearing a patterned shirt and looking towards the women. The woman in the center is wearing a dark top and looking down at something on the table. The woman on the right is wearing a patterned top and looking towards the center. There are papers and a cup on the table.

let's build a cyph together.

jalen@cyph.city | bryan@cyph.city